

How to Manage Stress

Try this simple 4 step grounding exercise to stay present and relax:

1. Things you see

Look around and notice four objects near you. Focus on details like colors, shapes, or movement.

2. Things you feel

Notice three sensations on your body, like your feet on the floor or clothes on your skin. Feeling your body grounds you in the present moment.

3. Things you hear

Listen carefully for two different sounds around you. It could be traffic, birds, or your own breathing.

4. Thing you're grateful for

Think of one thing that brings you gratitude right now. Even something small can anchor your mind and heart.
